

Sheng Siong Group (SSG SP)

On the right side of Singapore's growth story

Reiterate BUY; A supportive growth environment

SSG remains well-positioned amid a favourable macro backdrop—driven by Singapore's multi-year construction boom, a growing foreign workforce, and government support measures (SG60 & CDC vouchers) that continue to fuel resilient consumption. Supermarket sales rose 9.2% YoY in Jul-Aug'25, well ahead of 1H25's 1.7% growth. With 10 new stores added year-to-date, exceeding its target of 8, SSG is outpacing peers as competitors like Giant and CS scale back. The new distribution centre enhances operational efficiency and sets the stage for multi-year growth, though it may dilute FY27-28 NPAT by ~5% on higher D&A, excluding potential upside from improved scale and productivity. Trading at 20x PE, in line with peers, SSG offers a superior growth and margin profile. Reiterate BUY.

Multiple drivers to sustain above-trend growth

Singapore's construction boom — projected to grow >5% annually during 2025-30 — is driving a rise in foreign worker permits. The population grew 1.2% YoY in 1H25, led by non-residents, and at current pace could hit 6.5m by 2030. Government support (SG60 vouchers valid through 2026, additional CDC vouchers in 1Q26) continues to bolster household spending. Elevated HDB supply signals more store expansion opportunities. In China, expansion opportunities persist, with Kunming/Yunnan (where SSG is present) seeing mid-single-digit growth in both wages and supermarket sales.

SSG on front-foot while key competitor is in retreat

YTD, SSG has added 10 stores in Singapore—surpassing its full-year target of 8—while key rival Giant/Cold Storage has closed 2 amid DFI's sale to MacroValue. On Google reviews, SSG leads with a 4.4 rating, ahead of Giant/CS (3.8/4.0) and FairPrice (4.1). Channel checks indicate strong early traction at SSG's new Kinex and Cathay stores, exceeding the usual 12-18m ramp-up. In contrast, nearby stores like CS@Plaza Singapura and CS@Joo Chiat or Giant@marine parade show relatively muted foot traffic.

Much-needed DC expansion; Gauging P&L impact

We estimate SSG's SGD520m distribution centre expansion will increase annual D&A by ~SGD10m. This is based on construction costs of SGD360m, plant and machinery of SGD120m, and land lease costs of SGD46m, with useful lives ranging from 10-40 years. The more automated facility is expected to boost operational efficiency, support store and SKU growth, and reduce reliance on temporary warehousing during peak seasons (e.g., CNY, Hari Raya). On our estimates, the higher D&A may trim FY27-28 NPAT by ~5%, excluding potential upside from improved scale and productivity. (See pg. 3-6 for detailed workings.)
